

Happy Birthday Flagler Beach & Historical Museum

On April 2nd and 3rd 2010 the City celebrated its 85th Birthday! In addition, the Flagler Beach Historical Museum also celebrated their 10th Anniversary. Both celebrations and the grand reopening of South Central Avenue made for a wonderful day. The entire community participated in various segments of the event.

The City hosted approximately 8,000 people on Saturday and 800 on Friday night. Many were from out of town here on vacation or celebrating Easter with friends and family.

After a very slow season for the businesses in the CRA, this event proved to be a success for them all according to feedback received. Authors Day also drew a crowd as did American Idol Flagler Beach Style.

As you walked down the main strip you could view pictures of what the City looked like many years ago and how it looks today. Displays containing our past, present, and future helped visitors and residents alike see where we are and where we are going in the near future.

The Historical museum turned 10 years old and the unveiling of their new sign took place on Saturday amidst many invited Flagler County dignitaries. This sign has been a long time coming and very much deserved. It was made possible through a partnership between the CRA, the City of Flagler Beach, and the Flagler Beach Chamber of Commerce.

The event began Friday night with the Luau at the Beach and Rain Gutter Regatta Races. These races are boats that are hand made by the contestants and are raced down a rain gutter filled with water.

Some helped theirs along by helping the wind and blowing their boats to the finish line.
